

A Guide to Rational Opioid Prescribing for Chronic Pain

Online education designed for prescribers and dispensers of controlled substances.

Authored and presented by:

James W. Finch, MD, Addiction Medicine Family Physician and Medical Director of Changes by Choice in Durham, NC and Steven Prakken MD, Pain Management Physician and Chief of Medical Pain Service at Duke University

This three-part training addresses the need to decrease the morbidity and mortality association with opioids and other controlled substances while providing effective care for patients with chronic pain. As a result of the training, practitioners will be better equipped to prescribe opioids safely, appropriately and effectively.
